Management Discussion and Analysis

Industry Overview:

Polymer Based Packaging Industry has now matured over past 25 years in this country. The industry was initially progressed in 1970 era in the developed economies like US & EU. Many fold increase in the cost of wages has forced the industry to shift its base to the satellite countries like Mexico & other South American countries for the US Market and East European countries for the European Market. This shift took place during 1985 to 1995. With increase in popularity in the NAFTA agreement and the formation of “European Union” the wages in these satellite countries went through the roof and highly labour oriented packaging industry once again started looking for the New Place to settle.

This was the same period when India experienced the “Polymer Revolution”.
