What makes us stand out

Strong research & development

With a view to adding continuous value to an otherwise commodity-like business, Emmbi has always placed due importance on in-house R&D efforts. This has let us come up with a string of continuous innovations over our history, besides giving us the first mover advantage in many categories.

The result is the ability to capitalize quickly on emerging opportunities in the market.

A diverse product suite

Closely linked to our in-house R&D capabilities is our diverse suite of innovative product applications.

In addition to the specialty packaging applications, Emmbi has a range of products in the advanced composites segment and is making quick in-roads into emerging opportunities such as water conservation and agriculture.

These opportunities are likely to assume global importance in the years to come.

A pan-global presence

Finally, the markets that Emmbi serves are not limited to just one country or region. Emmbi has a healthy market presence across all the major markets of the world including the Americas, Europe, Oceania and Asia.

How we expect to grow

1. Specialty Polymers

Specialty Polymers would continue to be our revenue optimiser. We expect this business to show a healthy, double-digit growth in the years to come.

On the other hand, our more recent business lines including water conservation products and the agriculture business are expected to become the future growth engines.

3. Global Expansion

We expect to consolidate and build on our global presence by setting up representative offices and through strategic alliances across all continents, in the next three years.

4. New Markets

Asia's current polymer consumption as compared to more developed countries shows a significant untapped potential. We expect its growing appetite to fuel our future growth.
